2. Citations and explanations :

The claimed invention relates to a complex membrane for an electrochemical device such as lithium secondary battery, manufacturing of the membrane and an electrochemical device having the above membrane. This invention also includes the complex membrane for electrochemical device of a polyolefin fine-porous membrane and a porous membrane of nano fiber on a web and united to one surface of the polyolefin fine-porous membrane.

Following document has been cited in the International Search Report:

D1 : JP12-212323(ASHAHI CHEM IND CO LTD) 2 August 2000

D1 discloses a finely porous polyolefin-based membrane having an elongated cycle life without damaging a battery-assembling property and useful as separators for lithium ion secondary batteries which can stably be used for a long period, by forming a membrane structure having a specific average pore diameter and a specified average surface pore diameter. This finely porous polyolefin-based membrane has an average pore diameter of 0.01-0.2 μ m and an average pore diameter of 0.5-2 μ m on at least one of the surfaces. The finely porous polyolefin-based membrane preferably has a porosity of 80-70% and a thickness of 10-80 μ m. The finely porous polyolefin-based membrane is preferably obtained by orienting the membrane layer A in one direction to form a membrane layer B, and then laminating the membrane layer A to the membrane layer B to form the laminate structure.

The present invention is considered to be industrial applicable.

But, the claims 1-10 are considered to be lack of novelty and inventive step over the admitted prior art of "finely porous polyolefin-based separator "(D1).
